THE more closely the Governmental arguments in favour of the burning of Taipingshan before time is allowed for reconsider- Japanese ledy. ation of the conclusion arrived at the weaker do they appear. The Hon. N. G. MITCHELL Saigon, writing to the Colonial Secretary under-INNES says the houses must be destroyed. not on account of their present condition, linet. but because, when they were occupied they were full of dust and dirt and refuse. What that has to do with the question we fail to see. The new bouses by which they are propo el to be replaced will also be full of dust and dirt and refuse after they have been occupied by Chinese for three months. and any measures that may be taken to enforce cleanliness could equally be applied the existing as to the proposed new houses. If every house in the colony that is found a dirty condition is to be burnt or pulled the torpedoes laid down, to arole which each tially barat. down no houses in Chinese pecupation can be allowed to stand for many months. The cleaniness or otherwise of a bouse is matter that depends principally on the personal limbte of the occupants, and pulling ! down one set of walls and putting up others will not make any diff reace. The real to the basements of the Thipingshan houses where lanes can be cur or areas made adequate for the projer lighting and ventila tion of the cellurs, there is no good reason why the property should not be allowed to stand, but where measures of that kind are impossible the demolition and reconstruction of the houses appeare to be the only alternative. Mr. Mirchell-Innea assumes, too. that if a Commission such as Mr. CHATER asked for were appoint d the services of those who have served on the Honsing of the Central arket Committee and the Permanent Committee would not be available as members. We were under the impression that the antention was that the Commission should include all these gentlemen, who were to be invited to review the opinions they have previously expressed in the light fored a heavy loss by the death, on Monday after gested.
